Does your organization have something to show people?

Barcamp is FULL of geeks and tech people who would LOVE to have a look at it.

Now this doesn't mean a "sales pitch" is required, these are all real sharp folks. Arguably the best and the brightest in town! Think of it more like a lab, or a think tank!

Alpha Tier

$1000 or more

- Logos everywhere. Shirts, walls, near the food, anywhere the venue lets us put them up
- Huge recognition, verbal thanks before and after the event
Photos of logos published to various social networks during the event
- Association for sponsoring 'one whole thing' (like the shirts, or a meal)
- Recognition from the community for awesome support in volume!
- Room for demos/contests arranged by unorganizers

Bravo Tier

$500 to $1000

- Logos on the shirts, walls, and near anything purchased as a whole item
- Huge recognition, verbal thanks before

Photos of logos published to various social networks
- Association for sponsoring 'one thing', if it can be afforded with the contribution
- Recognition from the community

Charlie Tier

$250 to $500

- Logos everywhere. Shirts, walls
- Mention during opening/closing ceremonies
- Photos of logos published to various social networks during the event
- Recognition from the community for awesome support in volume!
